

Confidentiality Statement

All committee proceedings and materials prepared, disseminated electronically, and presented to Enterprise Value Analysis Council (EVAC) members in connection with their service are confidential and proprietary to AHSCA and may include material, non-public information regarding AHSCA and/or its suppliers, vendors, or other entities doing business with AHSCA. EVAC members are expected to maintain strict confidentiality with respect to such proceedings and materials and not share council materials or discussions/decisions with suppliers.

EVAC members can share information only with people to the extent that such disclosure is necessary to perform duties as a committee member. Examples of such disclosure include collecting data for sourcing decisions, requesting clinical feedback from facility personnel, and requesting supplier samples. Examples of non-disclosure include distribution of award presentation documents or validation of any committee decisions to anyone before announced by AHSCA. Breach of this agreement by any EVAC member is grounds for dismissal from committee service and notification to hospital leadership. If there are questions or concerns about specific situations involving confidentiality, contact the Enterprise Clinical Value Analysis (CVA) Facilitator for guidance.

- Note: All AHSCA committee members have the same confidentiality obligations. You may discuss confidential information with your organization's leadership team as they have agreed to the same confidentiality rules.
