Contact a Financial Aid Officer for more information on external scholarship resources.

The Office of Financial Aid provides workshops, financial literacy programs, as well as one on one meetings with students to maximize creative borrowing and help with a loan repayment strategy after graduation. DNP online students have the opportunity to meet with our Financial Aid Officers to inquire about loan funding, rates, and logistics of planning for the next two years of online instruction.

Wake Forest School of Medicine adheres to a Cost of Attendance that will likely vary during each of your two years in DNP school. You will receive an award notification from our office each June that details Cost of Attendance, your suggested budget, and your loan/scholarship offer for the year. It is important to note that personal resources should be used whenever possible to delay borrowing. Even small contributions out of pocket can make a tremendous difference in accruing interest on federal loans. Always delay borrowing as long as possible.

Most DNP students already have a budget that works for them however make sure to take our suggested budget into consideration when planning your time in this program. Reduce consumer debt as much as possible before matriculation so you are not using borrowed funds to pay old debt.

Student Loans

Federal loans - As a graduate student, you are eligible for federal loans totaling Cost of Attendance by simply submitting a FAFSA each year. Unsubsidized Stafford and Graduate PLUS loans are available to graduate students.

An Unsubsidized Stafford loan has a lower interest rate and origination fee than the Graduate PLUS loan. Our office will ensure you maximize this loan before using the Graduate PLUS loan. For the 22-23 aid year, the Stafford loan has an interest rate of 6.54% and a 1.057% origination fee. The Graduate PLUS loan has an interest rate of 7.54% with a 4.228% origination fee.

Federal loans have fixed interest rates. Once set, each individual loan rate will never change. Interest rates are evaluated by the Department of Education each year. If they are adjusted, new loans disbursed after July 1st are affected.

Benefits of federal loans include:

- Six-month grace period before beginning repayment
- Flexible, easy to manage repayment plans
- PSLF eligibility

Private Loans: Private loans can be beneficial to some students; however, we encourage you to review the pros and cons before deciding between federal and private funding.

Drawbacks to private loans include the fact that they cannot be consolidated with federal loans and they are not eligible for Public Service Loan Forgiveness. Private loans could be a viable option if you become ineligible to borrow federal loans. They have the potential to offer lower interest rates for borrowers with established credit history. Private loans are good options for students who are managing cash flow, as opposed to those who are living solely on financing. If you are in a position to repay your loans quickly after graduation, this option could save you interest expense over time. Please speak with a financial aid officer for more information on federal vs. private loans.

North Carolina FELS

NC FELS (Forgivable Education Loan for Service) is a loan forgiveness program that provides $7,000 a year to DNP students from North Carolina in exchange for a service obligation following the completion of their training. The service obligation requires recipients to work full-time in NC for each year the loan was awarded. You may work in any geographic area of NC. If you fail to stay in NC after training, you must repay the loan at an interest rate of 7% (interest accrues from the date of disbursement). FELS eligibility requires students to be enrolled in a minimum of 6 credit hours.

Under PSLF, borrowers may qualify for forgiveness of the remaining balance of their federal student loans after they have made 120 monthly payments while employed full-time by certain public service employers.
